the total effect is not necessarily the reduction in prices of formulations, though while determining the price of a price-controlled formulatio!!, the Government takes into account all the factors including reduction in customs element in bulk drug price. The prices of relevant formulations in the decontrolled category are being kept under watch to ensure that the compaines do not derive unintended benefit.

(See below). The process of assessment of liabilities entails scrutiny of the relevant data regarding production sales and sales prices and the delay in detarmination of the liability has occurred on account of non-recept of data from the companies in a number of cases. There is no question of dropping any case relating to overcharging under DPCO, 1979.
